

MEET & GREET

Sonny #4297

Hello all you wonderful Golden Rescue folks... my name is Sonny and I came from Cairo where my previous owner called me Simba. He had to go into the military and had to give me to a lovely woman who ran a shelter there. I really miss my old owner but I understand he couldn't take me with him and everyone in Cairo and here in Canada have been so good to me. My new mom and dad, Brittany and Ryan, are fantastic and called me Sonny because their previous Golden, who recently crossed the rainbow bridge was called Cher. Get it? I don't but I don't care because I only care that my life is amazing and I couldn't be happier. I love my mom but I particularly love my new dad and I follow him everywhere. I can sleep in. I get three or four walks a day, my parents love to cuddle with me, and I can even sleep on the bed right between them. I know you call this place Canada but I call it heaven.

THANK YOU... TOGETHER WE PERFORMED A MIRACLE

There has never been a time in Golden Rescue's 33-year history where so much effort has been put in by so many to save misfortunate Goldens.

As you know, as of September 28th, due to a governmental ban, we no longer can save Goldens from Egypt and Turkey from a life of misery and death. In response to this travesty, GR mobilized an army to rescue as many as we could. By some miracle, since the ban was announced, we brought 248 Goldens to Canada to safety and loving arms. There have been years that we didn't rescue that many in 12 months...a monumental task!

Our teams are happy with what we accomplished...but exhausted, and our gratitude to these compassionate and dedicated Golden angels can never be properly expressed.

Despite the placement team's herculean efforts, we could not find forever families for every Golden we brought to our shores, so our wonderful fosters and volunteers stepped up to home these beauties until their forever families could be found. Our airport team rose to the challenge as flight after flight arrived in Toronto, Montreal, and Vancouver. Our intake, home visit, social media, and transport teams were stretched to the max. Our compassionate and rescue-minded supporting vets provided care and treatment above and beyond.

And last but certainly not least, without the generosity of our sponsors, donors, and foster-to-adopt families, this would not have been possible!

Everyone's tolerance, patience, and understanding when things went wrong and elation when needy Golden after Golden arrived, are testaments to our organization. Our reward was looking into the eyes of these grateful, rescued goofballs as they arrived in Canada into the arms of their excited, loving forever families. We will continue to fight this ban with every ounce of our being so stay tuned for next steps.

Well done everyone!!! Who says miracles don't happen?

With gratitude,

Golden Rescue Board of Directors

Never underestimate the power of a small group of committed people to change the world. In fact, it is the only thing that ever has.

Mission Statement

SECOND CHANCES FOR GOLDENS IN NEED

Our mission is simple and straightforward because that's who we are and that's what we do. Our volunteer-run organization, led by a volunteer, working board of directors, is dedicated to ensuring that each and every rescued Golden receives exceptional care, regardless of the extent of their needs. We provide veterinary care, rehabilitation, behaviour training, and numerous other services to help our Goldens prepare for their second chance with a loving forever family. We also help educate people about the virtues of rescue as rescue is our favourite breed.

At the root of everything we do are our core values ~ integrity, kindness, compassion ~ all delivered without judgment. These are our guiding principles that drive our purpose and sustain our ability to continually wrap our arms around Goldens who so desperately need our help.

Hello...It's Nice to Meet You!

Dogs, particularly Golden Retrievers, are highly social animals, which make them such great pets and loving members of the family. For under-socialized dogs, whether it be a dog you got during Covid or a rescue dog, socialization may be more challenging and requires using simple techniques to help facilitate a successful meeting and greeting between two new dogs. The first and a key factor for any new meeting is location. It's best to plan ahead and make sure you use a neutral setting so neither dog is on another's 'territory'. This will immediately put both dogs on equal footing. Also, keep both dogs on a leash during this first meeting so that you are prepared to move your dog away should the meeting not go well.

One of the common issues with introducing dogs is that you often don't know what they've been through. Sometimes you're aware of their history and sometimes not. Some of these dogs have had unfortunate experiences in their past that has led them to be hesitant and even fearful or aggressive when meeting new dogs. All we have to go on is what the dog tells us. This can make it challenging when introducing your dog to one they've never met before. As the human facilitating the meeting, we must rely heavily on body language to help us determine the best way to have our dogs meet. Since dogs live in the present, their body language can change from minute to minute. Reading their body language in real time will help you socialize your dog with others. Observing their body language starts with where you look. Humans will want to look towards the eyes because, for a human, the eyes are the window to one's soul and it's how we most directly communicate. To a canine, your eyes will tell them what your intentions are for right now, at this moment. Canines use their ears, tail, fur on their haunches and even stiffness in their stance to broadcast to others what they are feeling. What a dog is looking at and its body language will tell you what its intentions are. When first introducing two new dogs to each other, observe their body language carefully. If they are both wagging their tails, mouths open, and ears and body relaxed, then you can safely introduce the two by first approaching the new dog yourself, crouch down, and extend your hand palm up for the dog to sniff. Once that has been done, you can bring your dog forward and allow the two dogs to meet and sniff each other.

Submissive body language, however, means their head and tail is medium to low height, ears are flat and relaxed, mouth is open showing their tongue and their whole body is loose.

Under-socialized submissive dogs may show different body language, like the tail wrapped up under and covering their behinds, ears folded back, and stance curved and tight. This shows fear. This dog would run behind you and hide instead of confidently being out in front when meeting new dogs. For a submissive, fearful dog, it is crucial that you show the dog that it is safe when meeting a new dog. This means you need to step forward in front of your dog to create a barrier and meet the incoming dog first and by extending your hand palm forward for the incoming dog to sniff, it is showing the fearful dog that it is safe to approach the new dog. And, as the new dog is sniffing your hand, your submissive dog will hopefully become curious and will go around and sniff their bum. This is what we are hoping for in a successful first meeting. I like to stay in the middle of the two dogs as they're meeting for the first time going round and round sniffing each other. It is also important not to over-socialize them so that if your fearful dog has had a little sniff and been sniffed by the other dog and everything is going well you say, "Okay, let's go", pat your hip, and continue your walk. Don't wait too long and let things go bad. Remember, less is more during the first meeting.

A confident under-socialized dog on the other hand will pull the leash tight to get to the other dog...it may even be barking aggressively towards them. This does not necessarily mean aggression... it could mean under-socialization. They need to learn to be less dominant and how to meet a new dog in a non-threatening way. This dog's tail will be up and wagging, its whole body will be stiff, and its ears will be forward and up like satellite dishes. These dogs can be much more difficult to socialize due to their physical strength and the fact that it may be strenuously pulling you toward the other dog. The techniques I use to fix this depend on which body language I determine and how fast I can see the triggers of the dog.

If my dog sees a new dog and its whole body goes stiff right away, I will take the back of my hand and touch the inside of the dogs back leg. Your hand is mimicking a dog's nose going in to sniff the other dogs' groin, and what would you do if you were looking at something intently and then you felt someone snooping around your groin? You would stop and have a look! This maneuver can break your dogs dominant focus on that other dog instantly, if timed right. When the dog looks at vou, start moving forward because a dog cannot unlock it state of mind unless its feet are moving, so once you've got its attention, you need to move forward. You literally could do a circle on the spot as long as you get the dog moving forward and break their dominant focus on the other dog.

In dog training, like with children, there isn't just one technique that's going to work all the time. I have a plethora of techniques that I have practised that I'm ready to pull out of my hat at any time...this is just one example.

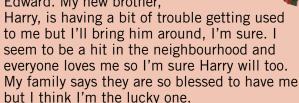

In a worst-case scenario where a dog has been or is showing dominant body language towards another dog, I gather the leash up in my right hand so that my hand is ten inches away from the dog's nose when the leash is tight. With my left hand I gently, calmly, and smoothly move my arm under the dog's hips or waist to the other side and now calmly, gently, and smoothly lift the dogs back end up slightly, so its back paws just come off the ground. At this point, turn the dogs bum towards whatever dog it was being dominant to. This takes the dominance away and puts the dog in a submissive state and will actually facilitate a dog sniffing another dog's bum in the proper manner.

This technique can also be used when introducing a new dog to your cat. While the general rule for two dogs is to have them meet in a neutral location, this is not going to work

MEET & GREET Hallie #4144

Hi everyone...my name is Hallie. I used to be called Happy and I have to tell you I sure am happy to be in your wonderful country. Everyone has been so kind to me, especially my amazing mom and dad ~ Sheila and Edward. My new brother, for your cat. In this case, you will be bringing your new dog home and introducing them to your cat there. A good tip is to have a tall cat post available or some high area so that your cat has somewhere to go if they feel scared. A cat's natural instinct is to climb, especially when feeling threatened, so this will give them comfort. So, the first thing you want to do when bringing home a new dog is to keep them on the leash for the first little while until you know how the dog is going to react around the cat. When the dog sees the cat for the first time, its body language will tell you how it is going to react. If the ears are up and forward and the tail is down and relaxed then it is just curious. Allow the dog to approach the cat slowly and proceed with the greeting letting both animals sniff each other. If, however, the dog charges at the cat, you will immediately gather up your leash in your right hand so that the leash is tight so the dog's nose is ten inches away from your hand. Then use the technique mentioned above and gently lift the dog's hind end up off the floor and turn them around so that their bum is facing the cat and let the cat sniff the dog, if they so choose. Keep doing this every time the dog goes for the cat until they stop charging them.

Keeping in mind the importance of reading your dog's body language, meeting in a neutral environment, having our dogs on leash, and utilizing the nose to bum technique will make our pets feel safe and secure and promote the best possible success when meeting new furry friends.

Honey Moon #3878

Hi all...my name is Honey Moon. That is the name my wonderful forever mom, Diane, gave me. Cool name, right? I love all you Canadians and I actually like your cool weather more than hot weather, even though I came from Istanbul. My mom says I'm a real 'character', whatever that means. I do love everyone I meet and anyone who comes through the front door gets a tail wag. I then lay down and roll on my side as I know everyone is dying to give me a tummy rub. I am what you humans call deaf but I'm pretty good with sign language. My mom says I'm smart because I always lie in the traffic routes. Since I don't hear my mom leaving the room, I certainly have all the vantage points covered, so I can follow her everywhere. Another side benefit of being deaf is that the vacuum cleaner never bothers me (teehee). My mom says I have brought much joy to her life. That may be true, but for me, I have great joy too...but my life has completely changed because I was saved. I may not be alive today had it not been for all you good folks.

MEET & GREET

Kelowna is settling in beautifully with us. This is a cool story about his name change. When our boy arrived in Canada, his name was Corona. We wanted to change it because to us it either meant the virus or Mexican beer and we weren't fans of either for our boy's name. We chose 'Kelowna' because we could mumble it and it would be very similar to 'Corona' and therefore easier for him to adjust to. BTW, he is clearly 'Kelowna' now with no mumbling! After Covid allowed our employees back into the office, I took Kelowna to meet everyone. I work with a large group of Egyptians and I told them about 'Corona' being the original name. They told me that Covid wasn't a 'thing' when Kelowna was born and Corona beer isn't available in Egypt. Then they told me that 'Corona' is the name of a very popular chocolate in Egypt! How cool is that? He was most likely named after chocolate because he is so sweet. Even though we didn't want to keep that name, it sure made us feel better. Who doesn't love chocolate and who doesn't love our Kelowna???

Picnic 2022...FINALLY!

After three years of COVID cancellations, we finally had our picnic and what a great day it was! With 200+ people and 100+ dogs (mostly Goldens, of course), the day got of to a great start as the sun rose and Mother Nature smiled on our day. The picnic was kicked off by our emcee and board member, Dr. Scott Bainbridge, who did a great job setting the stage for the day's events. The fun began with games, Leave It or Steal It, hikes, shopping, photo booth, Ask the Vet and Trainer booths, scavenger hunt, bbq, raffle/ auction...all which filled the day to delighted attendees.

We also had a beautiful tribute to our fur-babies who have crossed the Rainbow Bridge.

There are too many highlights to recount but the Best Dressed Contest was a big hit as was the hilarious Leave It or Steal It. A lot of people went on the hike with Ben, Toby, and Cobalt, although Toby preferred to stay by the registration booth. The Golden Turd Bingo was hilariously unsuccessful as only one Golden, one minute before the end of the contest, used square D8 to do his business and out of the 62 squares chosen, D8 wasn't one of them. And the barbeque was especially yummy this year.

There are so many people to thank. Firstly, Ben and Viamede Resort for graciously sponsoring and hosting the picnic. Thank you so much Ben...the picnic has the best 'home' possible and we can't imagine having the picnic anywhere else!

Thank you to Peter Brown (Ask the Behaviourist) and Dr. Scott Bainbridge (Ask the Vet) for all their sage advice.

A HUGE thank you to our talented and organized Picnic Chair, Julie, for doing such a fabulous job of organizing such a grand event. And to all our volunteers who helped make the day perfect, thank you for all your hard work. Julie said that to have such a great day "takes a village"...and what a great village we have! Thank you everyone for making our 'FINALLY' picnic such a great and golden day.

GOLDEN ANGELS

We'd like to recognize some outstanding volunteers. Meet golden angels with golden hearts.

Ian McClelland

lan and his wife Cindy are long-term supporters of GR. They used to live in Ontario and moved to PEI not long ago. They have adopted multiple times and currently have three amazing Goldens ~ Prince #2048, Molly #3078, and Ozzy #3773. They have volunteered in literally every area and simply have never said no if they are needed. Not long ago, we had international Goldens who needed transport from Ontario to New Brunswick. We had a volunteer who took them as far as Riviere du Loup (QC) and Ian graciously offered to do the rest, even though it meant eight hours just to get there, an overnight stay, another eight hours to New Brunswick, and then another long haul back home. If that isn't the absolute definition of a Golden Angel, we don't know what is! Thank you ~ you're the best!

Katie McDade

Katie is the loving mom of Barnaby #3469. She started volunteering with Golden Rescue in January 2021, a few months after the loss of her sweet Golden boy, Bennet. She was looking for a way to help heal from his loss so she offered to help where she could and to connect with other Golden lovers during a time of social isolation with Covid-19. Volunteering with Golden Rescue turned out to be the perfect fit! She started as a team of one conducting virtual home visits for all potential fosters and adopters and now coordinates home visits with a team of seven other wonderful volunteers! She is also a member of the education outreach team. Katie is a wonderful supporter ~ warm, positive, and approachable. She even sponsored a recent Cairo pup Bennett #4193. We are so lucky to have Katie in our corner ~ thank you Katie!

Louis Thouin

Over the years Louis has done everything Golden Rescue has asked of him and more... and he always does everything with such good humour, even in adversity. Louis does many of our Montreal airport arrival greetings and also transports whenever needed. He never says no to long, long drives and if we need overnight holds for our international Goldens, he is right there and his Golden, Jana, is the perfect hostess too. Louis also volunteers at events and does home visits. What a super star. Merci Louis...nous vous aimons!

WE ARE RUNNING OUT OF TIME & IDEAS & NOW THE SITUATION IS DIRE!

Olaf #3835: My name Is Olaf, pronounced by my amazing foster dad/teacher as 'oh laugh' as I am such a happy boy ~ always, always happy to see you. My foster dad has been teaching me how to behave and I'm doing pretty well. I am not well socialized with other dogs so I need to be an only pet and a backyard boy. I'm very sweet and cuddly with people. Please CLICK HERE to see my in-depth bio.

GOLDEN RESCUE NEVER GIVES UP BUT DESPITE OUR MONUMENTAL EFFORTS TO RE-HOME THESE THREE BEAUTIES, WE HAVE FAILED. FOR OVER A YEAR, WE HAVE BEEN LOOKING FOR ADOPTERS WITH NO SUCCESS.

They are good dogs. Yes, one has a heart murmur and two don't like other dogs but other than that, they are wonderful. We simply don't know what to do from here; however, we know we cannot keep them much longer. Can you open your heart and home to one of them...they really do deserve to live a wonderful life?

Shirley #3484: I'm five and Golden Rescue was told that I'm a Black Golden but in reality, I'm a German Shepherd with a little bit of Border Collie and Rhodesian Ridgeback. Don't ask how this happened ~ even if you do, we have no answers! I love women and I bond extremely close to one person...but I find it hard to trust some men. I need a quiet home with no other pets. I really am sweet and affectionate and I'm great company. On my walks, I am calm and relaxed and when I get home, I love to lie somewhere where it's cool and then I roll over for belly rubs. Please CLICK HERE to see my indepth bio.

Ebony #3825: My name is Ebony and I'm a 3-year-old Black Golden (as if you couldn't tell that from the pictures). My amazing foster dad and teacher describes me as a handsome, highly-intelligent boy with tons of energy. I think that's a pretty good report card from a teacher who knows these things. The doc says I'm healthy except I have a grade one heart murmur. It's the mildest murmur and there is no necessary treatment so the doc isn't worried about it. I love people and I tend to bond to one person, preferably with a dominant male. I am not good with other dogs and will bark, growl, and lunge at them, so no small children or cats either. My favourite thing is belly rubs. Please CLICK HERE to see my in-depth bio.

ALL WE WANT FOR CHRISTMAS IS YOU!!!

If you might be interested in adopting, please email adoption@goldenrescue.ca. And if you're not in a position to adopt, please spread the word far and wide so we can find them families soon.

Sasha #4010

I'm Sasha and I want to let all of you know that I am doing beautifully and I love my new life. I arrived in Vancouver in April and I spent my first night with hosts who made me feel so special. They gave me toys I could keep. The next day, my new mom and dad, Frieda & Karl, picked me up and we live on Vancouver Island ~ what a gorgeous place that is. They take me everywhere and I totally enjoy car rides and travelling in our motorhome. I am happy here...meeting other people who all tell me how beautiful I am and meeting lots of other dogs. Pretty soon I will be a year old and I am sure we will have a party...with lots of food and treats. Did I mention that I LOVE food and treats? Well, now you know (just in case you come to my birthday party but don't know what to get me...teehee). Thank you for helping to make this possible (and my parents want to thank you all as well).

GOLDEN FOODIES, GOODIES & BADDIES

As much as we sometimes view our pets as human-like who we happily adore and spoil, it is very important to remember that, in some regards, they have a very different biology than we do. Some things that we enjoy can make them incredibly ill. This is especially true when it comes to foods at Christmas. Foods that we consume may be toxic to your dog.

Perhaps the biggest thing to look out for is over-feeding. Goldens will eat most anything you give them and are prone to putting on weight if you're not diligent. Extra weight is a major contributor to hip and joint problems. You might think it is kind to give your dog extra treats but the opposite is true. Please keep a close eye on your Golden's weight and don't kill them with kindness.

At Christmas time it is really important to keep your dog away from many things like:

- Raisins, grapes & cherries (fresh or candied)
- Onions (including scallions and leeks)
- Garlic
- Seeds & pits
- Chocolate & cocoa
- Anything containing caffeine
- Salt & spices
- Bones of any kind as they may splinter (especially turkey or chicken)
- Alcohol (although it might be cute to give your dog some of your beer, please resist)
- · Christmas ornaments and tinsel

Not only at Christmas but for the rest of the year, many fruits and vegetables make wonderful treats for dogs and many are staples you probably keep handy anyway. Unlike many dog biscuits or similar treats, they are low in calories but everything should be given in moderation. Here are some simple, natural foods you can incorporate into your routine. When trying out new treats for your dog, it's always best to start with small portions to see how your dog's GI tract responds.

Fruits That Are Healthy

Apples: Apples are an excellent source of vitamins A and C, as well as fibre. They are low in protein and fat, making them the perfect snack for senior dogs. Try them fresh or frozen for an icy snack in the summer. Caution: Apple seeds and core contain amygdalin, a form of cyanide, that is poisonous if consumed, so make sure to remove them first.

Bananas: Bananas are low in cholesterol and sodium, relatively high in fibre and contain potassium, vitamins (including vitamin C), and copper, which can contribute to a healthier heart, better digestion, and increased energy. Just be sure not to overdo it. Given their high sugar content, it's best to give bananas to dogs in moderation.

Blueberries: Blueberries are a superfood rich in antioxidants (vitamins C and K), which prevent cell damage in humans and canines alike. They're packed with fibre and phytochemicals as well. Teaching your dog to catch treats in the air? Try blueberries as an alternative to store-bought treats.

Cantaloupe: Filled with beta-carotene, fibre, folate, niacin, potassium, and vitamins A, B-6 and C, this sweet melon is a nutritional powerhouse for your dog. Don't forget to remove the seeds and rind, as they can both cause stomach and digestive issues.

Oranges: Oranges are an excellent source of vitamin C, potassium, and fibre and, in small quantities, the juicy flesh of an orange can be a tasty treat. Remove the peel and only offer your dog the flesh of the orange, minus any seeds. Orange peel is rough on their digestive systems and the oils may make your dog literally turn up their sensitive nose.

Pears: Pears are a great snack because they're high in copper, vitamins C and K, and fibre. It's been suggested that eating the fruit can reduce the risk of having a stroke by 50 percent. Just be sure to cut pears into bite-size chunks and remove the pit and seeds first, as the seeds contain traces of cyanide. Skip canned pears with sugary syrups.

Strawberries: Strawberries are a great source of fibre and vitamin C which boosts immunity. Strawberries also contain a compound, malic acid, that may aid in whitening dogs' teeth. Like bananas, strawberries are high in sugar and need to be given in small portions. Fresh berries only please to avoid syrup and added sugar. If strawberries are a new treat, start out with small amounts to avoid stomach upset.

Watermelon: Watermelon is full of vitamins A, B-6 and C, as well as potassium. Watermelon is 92% water, so it's a great way to help keep your dog hydrated on hot summer days. Be sure to remove any rind and seeds first, as they can cause intestinal blockages.

Vegetables That Are Healthy

Carrots: Carrots are an excellent low-calorie snack that is high in fibre and beta-carotene, which produces vitamin A. Plus, the texture of carrots may also help remove film from the surface of teeth and do a small part in helping prevent the buildup of plaque.

Cucumbers: Cucumbers are especially good for overweight dogs, as they hold little to no carbohydrates, fats or oils and they can even boost energy levels. They're loaded with vitamins K, C and B1, as well as potassium, copper, magnesium, and biotin. The high-water content in cucumbers will help hydrate your dog, so they're especially good for summer and active days. They also deliver phytonutrients that can help fight the bacteria that contributes to bad breath.

Green Beans: A crunchy source of iron, calcium, fibre, folic acid, niacin, potassium, beta-carotene, and vitamins A, C, and K, green beans are another excellent choice. Chopped, steamed, raw or canned – all types of green beans are safe for dogs to eat, as long as they are plain.

Green Peas: Green peas, snow peas, sugar snap peas, and garden or English peas are all okay for dogs to find in their bowl on occasion. Peas have several vitamins and minerals and are rich in protein and high in fibre. You can feed your dog fresh or frozen peas, but avoid canned peas with added sodium.

Pumpkin: Pumpkin is rich in beta-carotene, the antioxidant responsible for its rich orange color, as well as such powerhouses as fibre, potassium, and vitamin C. Holistic veterinarians also say it may help in some instances of diarrhea and constipation. We recommend canned pumpkin puree since canned pumpkin pie filling may contain ingredients like sugar, spices, and xylitol. Consider subbing in pumpkin for peanut butter ~ it's about five calories per tablespoon versus 100 calories for the same amount of peanut butter.

Squash: Cooked squash is a great natural treat for dogs and since there are several kinds of squash that are safe for dogs, this is a good option year-round. Butternut squash, yellow squash or zucchini are all great. Just be sure to remove seeds and, for the butternut, the rind as well.

Sweet Potatoes: Sweet potatoes are high in beta-carotene and vitamins B-6 and C. They also contain minerals which serve many purposes in a dog's body ~ potassium, for example, helps keep kidneys functioning properly, maintains the right fluid balance in the body, and helps with nerve and muscle function. Their high dietary fibre content also helps digestion. If you're cooking sweet potatoes for your dog, opt for steaming or boiling them. Do not give dogs raw potatoes of any kind.

Warbles

Last week, we had a middle-aged Terrier present at the clinic with a three-day history of large, itchy, red lumps all over her body. The dog had recently spent some time at a friend's Kawarthaarea cottage.

On the physical exam, I noted four large swellings mainly on the pet's head and neck area. The areas were quite red and infected. The oddest thing was that each swelling had a small hole in the middle. A breathing hole? Immediately, I knew we were dealing with a case of Cuterebriasis or what is more commonly known as 'Warbles'. I gently squeezed each swelling and low and behold, I expressed a living one-centimeter-long larva from each area ~ four in total.

Are you totally grossed out yet?

Luckily, we put the pet on antibiotics and she recovered beautifully. Warbles is an uncommon disease seen in dogs but we have had more of our share of cases this year than in the past. Warbles is caused when a Botfly lays an egg near the burrowing hole of a rabbit or rodent. If your dog is a hunter and is sniffing around these burrows, the egg can hatch and the mobile larva can then mistakenly enter the dog's body through any type of opening. Three to four weeks later, the larva forms a visible nodule (warble) with an external breathing hole. After completing development, the larva will exit the host and eventually develop into an adult Botfly.

The best way to prevent Warbles is to keep your pets away from rabbit and rodent burrows. If you do live in an area where Botflies are common, I would recommend inspecting your pet's coat for lumps or swellings on a regular basis. If you do suspect your pet has been infected, book an appointment with your veterinarian but please do not try to remove them on your own.

It's all in a day's work!

Holiday Shopping!

The holiday season is coming up quickly so let the Golden Rescue Store help out with all your holiday gift buying. We have a number of fabulous items that you can personalize with any photo of your choice. We have new placemats and coasters (which can be purchased as a set or separately). How great would it be eating at your table and looking down to see your Golden staring up at you! These would make perfect stocking stuffers.

When looking for that gift for your four-legged friend, how about the toy box ~ add their name and they will always know where to put their toys (yah, right!). Our puzzle is a great gift for those family game nights and our mouse pad is also a great stocking stuffer. Also, a fabulous gift is the door feedback on these. Finally, why not keep your flying friends happy over the winter mat ~ we have received great with our personalized bird houses, which wear amazingly well. Although not personalized, our hoodies, vests, and jackets are also excellent gift ideas. And if none of these suggestions work, don't forget our 2023 calendar or the Golden Reflections Coffee Table Book, which is full of great stories about our rescues. And, gift certificates also make wonderful presents.

Check out the STORE for all your holiday needs! Shop while supporting our Goldens.

THE TRAINING CORNER

LET'S TALK GAMES!

Over the summer, I had the opportunity to rent Shari's Playpen. It's a fully fenced 110 x 110-foot field in north Pickering. If you've been reading my previous articles, you'll know that at Who's Walking Who, we use a combination of Positive Reward and Games Based training. I decided to take a leap of faith and offer only games-based classes using games developed by Absolute Dogs in the U.K. and the results were beyond our expectations...so much so that we had to add more classes.

So, why were these so popular? Because the games work on concepts, the struggles that many dogs have in everyday life (i.e. on a walk OR off leash OR reacting to things passing by OR being able to calm down when excited OR someone knocking at the door, and other inappropriate behaviours). Don't get me wrong, we still love Positive Reward Obedience training; however, that type of training is best for teaching your dog what a word means, like 'sit', 'down' or 'stay'. However, that method of training doesn't work on concepts like impulse control and disengagement. It would be like someone telling you "Just be confident" in a situation where you just don't feel confident. You need to change how your brain thinks in order to be confident.

Let me give you an easy example of this. Your dog sees something on the ground they want or you accidentally drop something on the ground that they want to dive for. You can say 'leave it' but are you always going to notice when there's something on the ground that they shouldn't have? Wouldn't it be better if they saw the thing on the ground and decided that's none of their business and left it alone? That's what concept games-based training is all about ~ changing the way they think.

Games Based Concept training is an innovative approach and considered to be the next evolution in dog training. More and more facilities are starting to offer this method of training. It's not a cookie-cutter approach, which is how obedience training is done. Instead, each dog is looked at as an individual to determine the three main weaknesses in the dog's brain or personality. Then we select games that will grow those concepts to help the dog make more appropriate choices. It's not about telling the dog what to do or teaching an alternative behaviour (such as telling a dog to sit when jumping up). It's neuroscience. It's about building and strengthening neural pathways and re-shaping your dog's brain. You train FOR the situation not IN the situation.

Absolute Dogs has created over 300 games. Each game works on 3 to 7 concepts and there are 14 concepts in all. Here are concepts they work on and a brief explanation of each:

Calmness – being able to remain calm, rather than barking, lunging, jumping up, hiding, shaking, etc.

when someone comes to the door or out in public.

Confidence – are they comfortable in new situations or do they get stressed or react by barking, lunging, etc.?

Disengagement – your dog makes the decision to move away from something rather than engaging or investigating, especially when you call them.

Engagement – your dog chooses to interact with you even when that pesky squirrel is flipping its tail at them.

Flexibility – having the ability to change their behaviour or emotional state in exciting situations like on a walk or calling them to come.

Focus – being much more interested in us rather than the environment and checking in with us to make sure they know where we are, especially off leash.

Grit – when presented with a challenge or something new they've never done, do they step up or give up?

Independence – are they able to spend time away from you or do they struggle with separation anxiety?

Novelty – when they see something new, strange or different, do they see it as a good thing and ignore it or a scary thing and bark or cower?

Optimism – when they see the world as a good and friendly place when new things or changes happen. Many dogs are pessimistic and we see a lot of this in rescues.

Proximity – you are the best deal and you dog sees value in being close to you. They enjoy being close to you on walks.

Self-Control/Impulse-Control – their ability to control themselves when seeing something they want, like that half-eaten hamburger on the ground or a bunny munching grass.

Thinking in Arousal – can they listen and respond to you when they are excited, worried or scared. Do they have a dimmer switch allowing them to bring their own arousal level down a few notches?

Tolerance of Frustration – do they get frustrated or anxious when things don't happen when they expect them to? Like at mealtime or when you normally go out for a walk.

Here's how it works. If you have a dog that pulls on leash and wants to chase squirrels or barks and lunges at other dogs, we might work on concepts such as disengagement, proximity, and impulse control. If your dog prefers to ignore you when off-leash and not come when called, we might work on thinking in arousal, flexibility, and disengagement. A dog with separation anxiety might best be helped by playing games that work on confidence, independence, and tolerance of frustration. Remember, not all dogs are the same. There may be other concepts that are more applicable to your dog.

The best part...many of our students have told us that these programs have done more for their dog than ALL the obedience training they have done before! They love how much fun it is, how quickly they start to see changes in their dog, and how it transfers into real-life! What we love is that we're hearing this not only from those who got their dog as a pup, but those who have adopted rescues. Who knew training your dog could be so much fun!?

Lila #4102

As soon as Lila came out of the crate, we felt an instant bond. She came right to us and let us take her away with no resistance. She was amazing in the car and she made herself right at home when we arrived. The kids have been obsessed with her since she arrived. Lila loves going for walks. She also loves hanging out by the pool. She comes to a cottage with us where she shows us her amazing swimming skills ~ she definitely loves the water. She is so good natured and everyone she meets compliments her on how beautiful and gentle she is. She follows us around the house constantly as she always wants to be in the middle of the action. Despite her having a comfy dog bed, she sneaks onto the couch after we all go to bed, but we pretend we don't notice. She is also guite the lady as whenever she lays down, she always does so with her paws crossed ~ we all smile at that! We are so happy she is part of our family and we are so happy we could give her the home she deserves. She will be forever loved and we can tell she loves being in our family.

OUR GOLDENS & WILL POWER

Nothing can match the magical day when a wonderful Golden becomes part of a forever family and the fantastic relationship and bond begins. Preparing a special comfortable bed, toys, food, activities, vet care, grooming, and getting to know family and the neighbourhood and even other four-legged creatures in our world...it's all good. Oh, and did we say taking lots a pictures!

A great deal of preparation is required for life's journey with our precious Goldens. However, if something unforeseen occurs, which may affect them, we need to have a plan. Throughout the year, we receive inquiries from Golden families regarding:

- care of Goldens should an unforeseen life event or death occur
- will planning for care of Goldens and financial matters associated with this care
- will/estate planning and charitable giving

Many questions are asked and begin with Golden Rescue as the first point of consideration for what to do and next steps. The following will provide some guidance or direction to frequently asked questions ~ FAQs.

What happens to my Golden if I can no longer take care of my Golden or I pass away suddenly?

Your first discussion should be with family/friends who are likely to step in should an unforeseen event occur. Please review your Will and Power of Attorney (POA) with your lawyer and discuss any arrangements to be made regarding your Golden to provide for care and expenses. If friends and family are not able to support your Goldens care, then make a plan with your lawyer to have Golden Rescue engaged with provisions provided in your will and POA for care. Golden Rescue will bring your Golden into our program and take great care to match your precious Golden with a new forever family. Provisions for care, expenses, and any tax efficient charitable donation consideration to Golden Rescue instructions can be written into your will and POA.

How can I make a charitable contribution to Golden Rescue today or in my will?

The general question most often asked and those asking usually prefer to contact or to speak with a Golden Rescue Board Member or they are encouraged to visit Golden Rescue's website www.goldenrescue.ca. We recommend that you receive independent planning and tax advice from your financial advisor or your tax preparers. Golden Rescue is a registered charity and provides donation tax receipts.

How does it work if I contribute today?

Contributions can be made monthly, annually or by lumpsum by contacting the Director of Donations, Advisory & Planned Giving at board@goldenrescue.ca

What should I tell my lawyer or put into my will or POA?

Depending on what type of gift or donation you wish to give, options may include:

- a specific request or an asset, which may include investments, stocks, a dollar amount or percentage from your estate
- naming Golden Rescue as a charity from your estate or a beneficiary of a life insurance policy or other asset
- a residuary gift made from what is left-over in the estate after specific requests, taxes, and expenses been paid

In summary, many options exist for giving today or in the future, which provide that great feeling of knowing you made a difference in the lives of needy Goldens. Let us know if we can help you with your offer to help our Goldens and contact us today at board@goldenrescue.ca.

THANK YOU!

MEET & GREET MARGO #3976

HERE'S WHAT MARGOT'S MOM SAYS ABOUT THIS LOVELY GIRL:

She has grown to like our other dog and they'll run around together in the yard and play like crazy.

She always carries her little black bear toy around the house when she's excited or when someone visits.

When we picked her up, she was in need of a bath, scared, and very confused. We got home, gave her some love, and when we turned on the water in the bath to see if she would consider a bath, she jumped right in. To our surprise, she loved it and didn't want to get out.

She's really friendly and loves everyone ~ people, other dogs, and she even wanted to play with some cats (though they weren't in favour of it).

She loves to watch the birds at our feeders and will sit for hours if you let her...perfectly content watching birds and squirrels.

She comes to work with me (in a vet clinic) and she loves it there with all the dogs and people ~ I have to carry her out because she never wants to leave.

She has changed our lives in such a positive way...she is our very own ray of sunshine. She's already a part of the family and we can't imagine not having her as part of the family.

Laurie

MEET & GREET

Cooper #3988

Cooper is doing really well! At exactly three weeks, just as you suggested, Cooper really started to settle in and get into a rhythm with us. He fit perfectly into our lives and we couldn't be happier (or more fit from all the walking)! He has quickly become a hit on our street and our neighbours have been full of praise as he has transitioned from taking us for a walk to walking so well beside us (though he does still chase the occasional bunny and squirrel). People are definitely his favourite 'thing'. Close behind would be his iguana plush toy, the car, and tall grasses! He's not a fan of other dogs (some little ones and older dogs are okay) and we're working on it. He has the most adorable 'butt wiggle' when he's excited ~ it's enough to steal just about anyone's heart! Matching Cooper with us was really the perfect pairing and we feel so incredibly lucky to have him in our lives.

Luna #3795

This is Luna. Every time I look at this picture, I cry...tears just roll. I see a sweet sentient being who would never have had this life in Canada if it weren't for Golden Rescue. Luna loves balls, as many dogs do. So, it's no surprise that she loves watching a juggler juggle balls. We went to see a juggler for the children and then he came in Canadian attire and juggled just for her! She was in heaven! To have a life in Canada, where she is loved and is safe, she can bask in delight versus survival. She is so deserving of everything and she lives life with a sparkle in her eyes. Thank you for this gift called Luna!

Cheryl

Help Us Help Goldens – CONSIDER VOLUNTEERING!

Golden Rescue continues to grow and evolve...and we're looking for volunteers! Might that be you? We run solely with volunteers ~ a wonderfully dedicated group sharing a common vision to safeguard the well-being of every Golden in our care. Our work is hugely rewarding and we would love to hear from you. We currently have needs in a number of areas.

Foster Families

We continue to have Goldens coming into our care and we need foster homes specifically:

- For the Western Provinces & the Maritimes
- Homes without any pets (throughout Canada)

Fostering a Golden and helping them through a transitional phase is an incredibly rewarding experience because you're the first step in their new life. If you are interested in fostering, please fill out a foster application online at:

www.goldenrescue.ca/foster/

Once you've filled out an application, a volunteer will contact you to clarify any points, answer any questions you might have, and arrange a home visit. You will also be assigned a foster mentor.

Estimated time commitment: Varies by Golden and their circumstances

Transport Drivers

Transport Drivers are needed to move our Goldens from their past to their future new lives especially in the following areas:

- British Columbia
- Alberta

- Northern Ontario
- Maritimes

Drivers pick up our precious cargo from previous homes, shelters, vet offices, etc. and drive them to their foster families. Sometimes this trip is short and can be done by one person and other times the distance is greater, requiring volunteers to work as a relay team, picking up and dropping off at identified locations along the way. Obviously, this is a very important task. Drivers must have a valid driver's license and be willing to use their own car.

Estimated time commitment: Your availability

Event Administrator

This is a vital role within the Events Team and is highly administrative. Some of the key duties include:

- managing RoundCube (email system) and creating required folders, monitoring incoming emails, and filing/saving as required
- Google Drive: creating required folders, completing required forms
- monitoring event processes and advising the event director of any concerns

Most of our processes are standard and require minimal editing. You will be provided with all the tools, training, and support you need to achieve these goals. You should have strong organizational and communication skills, a solid working knowledge of Excel Spreadsheets, and experience working in an email environment. Knowledge of Google Drive would be an asset, but not a requirement.

Estimated time commitment: Varies depending on the number of events in a particular month

If you're interested in any of the above roles, please email: teamresources@goldenrescue.ca

THANK YOU FOR COMING TO OUR RESCUE!

Memories in Motion was created last year as a special fun-raising event to honour all our Goldens, past and present. This year, we had a special challenge for our participants.

To celebrate the expansion of Golden Rescue right across the country, we decided to walk across Canada ~ from coast-to-coast, a distance of 6.165 km over the course of one month with a fundraising goal of $6,165.

On October 1st, on a beautiful fall day, we held walk-a-thons in multiple locations across the country to help us meet this goal. Our volunteers gathered their families, friends, Goldens, and other fur-friends to walk together to unite for one common cause ~ rescue. All participants, twoand-four-legged, had a fabulous fur-flying (and sometimes muddy) time! Oh, and did they meet the goal? They sure did! As a matter of fact, they surpassed it, raising $7,440!

Thank you to all who helped make this happen!

If anyone would like to join our Memories in Motion Fun-Raising Committee to help plan next year's shenanigans, please email: fundraising@goldenrescue.ca.

The Aftermath... 🐇

Coast To Coast

Farewell to Spencer #1724

It was with the heaviest of hearts that I said good-bye to Spencer #1724 on May 18th. He was surrounded by love as he went to doggie heaven. He didn't have the best beginning, coming from a puppy mill farm where he had to fight for his food; however, under the guidance of Golden Rescue and a wonderful foster family, he was cared for with the love and kindness he deserved until Spencer became part of our home. He was a smart cookie our Spencer. While I wasn't sure about him, he made an immediate connection with my 12-year-old son Daniel and next thing I knew we were on the 401 from Ottawa with a just turned five-year-old Golden in the back seat. Our first year together was bumpy. Spencer was growly, grumpy, and didn't trust us. I called him Mr. Grumbles. He had a fight with a German Shepherd in our neighbourhood. His first dog walker in Oakville could tell stories about how snarly he was. But little by little, with a lot of patience and even more love, he started to trust and became a wonderful member of the family and a bit of an old soul. We shared many adventures together and lots of special occasions whether in Ottawa, Elliot Lake, Montreal, New York or Tennessee. Christmas was always hilarious as he played the 'will the turkey fall on the floor' waiting game and amazingly, despite his food guarding issues at the beginning, he learned patience and impulse control and was always rewarded with some extra treat. I am blessed to have had him for 10 years. Spencer exceeded his breed standard by almost three years, and he missed his 15th birthday by seven days (but oh did he try to get there). He was my best friend for all the good times, and an even more loyal friend through the challenges of the past four years ~ a separation, a new home in a new location, and a pandemic. As he became a senior, he started breaking down bit by bit until last week, when x-rays showed he had a mass on his lungs, and he struggled with getting up and with breathing. Spencer told me it was time and although I've shed an ocean of tears, letting him go peacefully was the right thing to do. I owe much gratitude to Golden Rescue that Spencer's second chance would be with me. Spencer loved running in fields of dandelions and I will always think of him that way. Whether you knew him by Spencer, Spenceroo, Spencey or Sir Spencer, he was a wonderful boy and I will miss him. Love you forever Spencer.

Carleen

CFIA BAN UPDATE

Hello to all you Golden Retriever lovers. We wanted to keep you fully informed about the Canadian Food Inspection Agency (CFIA) ban on international dog rescue that went into effect on September 28th.

The reason the ban was implemented is because two dogs came to Canada from Iran in 2021 and even though they had both been vaccinated for rabies, they carried the canine variant of rabies and subsequently infected about 50 people. As a result, the Public Health Agency of Canada asked the CFIA to implement a ban on dog rescue from over 100 countries where the risk of rabies was deemed to be highest. On that list of 100 countries were Egypt and Turkey, the two countries we are working with most closely to bring Goldens here to Canada.

Without consulting any canine rescue organizations, the CFIA announced the ban on June 28th. We obviously do not want to risk infecting any person or dog here in Canada with rabies as a result of our actions; however, a blanket ban without taking into consideration the strict health protocols that some rescue groups such as ourselves follow is draconian, unnecessary, and frankly confounding. As soon as we heard about the ban, we started lobbying the government and the CFIA to allow an amendment so that responsible rescue organizations such as ourselves could continue our work while simultaneously eliminating the risk of importing rabies.

Among the actions we took were to initiate a letter writing campaign to members of parliament. We reached out to media and received a favourable response resulting in several high-profile stories in mainstream media. We also wrote letters to the CFIA and the Chief Veterinary Officer of Canada asking for meetings to begin a conversation about how to amend the ban. We were also very active on social media promoting all of the reasons we needed to continue to do international rescue. We have rescued almost 2,000 Goldens from international destinations, primarily from Istanbul and Cairo without one case of rabies because we have strict health protocols.

Many of you have compassionately opened your hearts and your homes to these Goldens and you know how very special they are. Our social media campaign must have been effective because on September 28th, the day the ban was launched, the CFIA blocked us from their site.

We were invited to meet with a senior policy advisor to the federal health minister on September 3rd. The meeting was respectful but we did not feel we made any progress. Soon thereafter, we were invited to attend a meeting with the Chief Veterinary Officer of Canada, Dr. Mary Jane Ireland, and some of her colleagues. We felt that meeting was productive and it was a good start. They listened respectfully and asked good questions and we came away with much more information than we had prior to the meeting.

They have four major concerns.

FIRST, how would we ensure that the vaccines that are used are:

- approved by the World Health Organization
- stored and administered properly

SECOND, how would we ensure that the rabies vaccine certificates were not fraudulent. Dr. Ireland told us that the incidence of counterfeit vaccine certificates had risen significantly over the past few years.

THIRD, the minimal amount of time between the administration of a titre test and the time a dog would be allowed to come to Canada would be at least three months and some countries require six months.

FOURTH, in the absence of that waiting period, there would have to be a quarantine period arranged here in Canada for a dog. The quarantine facility would have to be approved by the CFIA, staffed by people who were trained and would wear PPE all the time, and the dogs would not be allowed to come into contact with any other dogs or humans.

We understood from that meeting that the priority for the CFIA right now is to establish protocols for personal dogs and assistance dogs so that they can continue to come to Canada. After that is accomplished, they will begin to work on the long-term regulatory protocols that would satisfy the four issues mentioned above.

Dr. Scott Bainbridge, who is one of our board members, has reached out to the CFIA offering to consult with them. He has had a favourable response; however, it is unlikely that anything positive will happen anytime soon. Therefore, in the interim, we will continue to work hard on the campaign to keep the pressure on the CFIA and to keep awareness high in the public realm about the issue and about the impact of the ban on the dogs that are waiting to come to Canada. As most of you know, these dogs are living in deplorable conditions and many will die needlessly. Time is of the essence!

Those of us who have been lucky enough to meet the Goldens coming off the flights from Istanbul and Cairo here in Canada have witnessed how quickly the power of love and compassion can have an impact. That is why we do what we do. We are committed to continue the fight to achieve an amendment to the ban so that we can continue to save Goldens.

HOW YOU CAN HELP ~ NEXT STEPS

If you want to help immediately, please CLICK HERE to sign the parliamentary petition:

And if you have any other great ideas as to how we can achieve our objective of amending the ban, please share them with us by emailing board@goldenrescue.ca.

And obviously, although we are not going to be working internationally for now, we will continue our rescue efforts here in Canada. As always, thank you for your support.

MEET & GREET

Harris #4077

Harris has settled in beautifully. He is sooooo smart. He has already learned 'sit', 'stay', 'come' (unless he's in pursuit of a squirrel), 'paw' and 'leave it'. He's not fond of that last one but he does it anyway...what a trooper. He gives fabulous hugs and he loves car rides...even to the vet. He's an absolute joy and has added so much happiness to our home. Getting Harris has been a match made in heaven. We're hoping for the ban to lift so we can get Harris a brother.

Perhaps the best reason is to look into the eyes of any rescued Golden and the reason will become obvious. Here are 10 other reasons:

Although the international ban is in effect, domestic rescues are epidemic and Goldens are being surrendered to us almost daily.

Many Goldens in our program need expensive medical care.

MOLLY #1921

Rescue never sleeps. Although all our volunteers are exhausted from our international rescue efforts, we continue to rescue, rescue, rescue.

Some of the Goldens who come into our care need a little extra time to adjust. Donating to their rehab would be a huge support.

You will receive a tax receipt for your donation.

A donation in someone's honour is the greatest gift of all.

We will rescue the 5,000th Golden soon ~ we need to save 5,000 more.

Become a monthly donor and get a copy of our coffee table book ~ 'Golden Reflections' as our way of thanking you.

We are postponing our Wishbone Lottery until next fall so your donation will help with the upcoming year's efforts.

Donating and giving a Golden a second chance is simply good for the soul.
